

Commercial Banking in Chindia-China and India

Prof. Vinay Dutta
Professor
FORE School of Management
New Delhi 110 016
E - mail: vinay@fsm.ac.in

Abstract

Operations and performance of commercial banks in China and India engage attention of all globally as both are emerging economies and both have introduced significant banking sector reforms in the recent past. This study examines the operations and performance of commercial banks operating in China and India during the period 2010-2011 on select parameter such as changes in ownership pattern, structure and size, and operational performance in the context of continuing banking sector reforms in these countries. The study also details the major challenges that Chinese and Indian commercial banks may face in coming times due to adverse global financial environment as well as high inflation prevailing in these economies.

Key Words: Commercial Banks, Emerging Economies, Banking Sector, Reforms, Bank Performance.

